Wild Child is a Los Angeles based doors tribute act with 20 solid years of performance in the competitive L.A. Music Scene. Faithfully re-creating a live

Doors Concert on stage, this is not a typical Doors tribute band! Wild Child's music is painstakingly reproduced and combined with the voice, look and essence of Jim Morrison live on stage. They mirror the depth, energy and emotion of The Doors concerts as they were live back in the late 1960's. Wild Child doors tribute also utilizes the same musical instruments live as The Doors did over 35 years ago.

Wild Child Doors Tribute band performs internationally, playing to packed venues around the globe. Wild Child broke into the national act venue circuit before any other tribute act, selling out countless shows from its beginning to the present. In the late 80s, the lead singer was under consideration to play the lead actor in the Oliver Stone movie "The Doors." Many experts have complimented his stage rendition of Jim Morrison. Concert goers leave Wild Child's concerts in amazement and disbelief. This amazing Doors tribute band relies on stage craft and musicianship to create an event that people will remember, without corn ball antics and banter that many tribute bands incorporate.
